Without being who have performed the duty on railways in lion of what it may attain later on. Mr. pessimistic, however, we feel bound to their own country? We have no wish to Hobson, Commissioner of Customs, makes offer some reasons why these seemingly add to the expenses of the Tramway Comeloquent figures are not quite so satisfactory as they superficially seem. The And in connection with this subject we would to foreign trade. After a brief review of the arrivals with cargoes are generally taken to suggest that the Government, in considermean a more or less full cargo, and if that is ation of the public convenience afforded by the case the increase in tonnage arriving in the port is certainly a cause for gratification. But the vessels arriving from Europe this year have for the most part brought out light cargoes, some of them ver light ones, and the godowns in the early months of the present year-with the exception of the coal godowns-were far from well stocked. Many were pretty nearly empty for some time. It will be seen therefore that an increase in the arrivals of vessels at a port may be consistent with a positive decline in trade. This is what has happened in Hongkong if we had statistics to show it, and while the tonnage partly due to ignorance and partly to chartered junk put on the berth. Seeing entering port has been in excess of that of recklessness. They had been warned not the corresponding half of 1891 the quantity to remain on the line when the cars of cargo landed or in transit would be proved were passing because it is narrow in the to be smaller. Trade is slowly improving to the warning. They have paid a heavy now, we understand, or rather there are penalty for their thoughtless disregard of signs of a pending revival, and if confidence | mjunctions, one with his life, and the others could only be regained this would soon begin with severe injuries which will no doubt for to be more apparent. The season of depres- some time incapacitate them from working, sion has lasted some time now, buyers in all and they will never be as capable of hard markets have been holding off very resolute- manual labour as before the accident. ly, but an end must come to this timidity in therefore the charitably disposed public are some cases and wariness in others as stocks disposed to subscribe a small sum to give go by, as an index to the prosperity of warded for that purpose.

The other features presented in the Harbour Master's returns are less illusory and more genuinely satisfactory. There has been a large increase in the British tonnage. and also in the Chinese junks employed in the local trade. A considerable decrease has taken place in foreign tonnage and also in the junks engaged in the foreign trade, the inserence being that more trade has gravituted to British ships. Even this conclusion, however, must not be assumed too hastily or unreservedly. for it is quite nossible that ! the trade has paid so poorly that some vessels hitherto engaged in it bave with and the total loss of two or three German happily set in.

No one has been admitted for treatment whose case did not clearly establish the probability of virulence. Of those treated only sixteen were presented between the first and the fifth day after having been bitten; all the others ranging from the sixth to the fortieth day. But notwithstanding the long time elapsed between the bite and the commencement of treatment, only one among the forty-eight succombed. This was Antoine Charrier. second nurse in the Hanci hospital who was cruelly bitten in both legs on the afternoon of the :1st November, 1891, by an Annamese dog which was introduced into the hospital pursping his bitch. This animal, showing suspicious tendencies, was destroyed by the natives on the following day. Charrier had in the front 23rd December. TERRIBLE TRAGEDY IN YOKORAMA.

A terrible tragedy occurred in Blood Town this afternoon, says the Janen Gazette of the 7th instant, by which it is feared four lives have been lost; but owing to the excitement we have only been able to gather the most superficial account of the affair. It appears that Consul, was this morning released from the Japanese gaol, where he was recently confine? on a charge of having assaulted R. Beattie, of 124 Settlement. Immediately on his release. Carlstein purchased a six-chambered revolver and walking down to 124 at a quarter to two this afternoon, deliberately that Beattie while lying in bed, the shot we believe proving instantly fatal. Carlstein then went to look for a man named Ned Valentine, against whom h allohad a gradge, but failing to find him be returned to 124, and afterwards walked on t the recent p'ot of land just beyond, where he was knocked down by a British marine, the only man who had apparently dared to interfere with him. At this moment three policemen Supplementary to Dr. Macgowan's not on rushed up, but before they could arrest him the two cases we fear fatally. The man then raised the leg. He was taken to the police station where, as we go to press, he is lving seemingly anconscious, but we are informed by the anthori- Justice, gave judgment for the amount claimed.
